Commissioners of Iowa Capital City Believed That the Prices Were Inflated and They Cut Them in Two.

PRODUCE DEALERS GET SEVERE JOLT

Arthur H. Evans to Chicago Herald )

Des Motnes, Ia., Nov. 22.—The municipal market which was opened municipal market which was opened efficacy of the commission form of government. It demonstrates the readiness with which public opinion is carried into effect under the Design of the closer union that waste between the people and their representatives.

Up to a few months ago the city was in the grasp of a combination of produce dealers. Although the city was in the grasp of a combination of produce dealers. Although the city is the center of one of the richest agricultural districts in the world, the prices of vegetables, fruits and garden stoff were as high that necessities were fast becoming luxuries. For instance, pointoes at one time reached $3 a bushel. Men of wealth carried one or two in their pockets as varios, while a baked potate with the family Sunday reast was considered a great treat. Iowa is one of the richest states in the union, its per capita wealth being $1,825, while the per capita wealth of the United the per capita wealth of the United States is only $1.215, but at that the people of Des Moines were hard pushed to keep pace with the fafity cost of living. Truck farmers were not able to peddle their products from house to house because the grocer would then refuse to trade with them the matter up. Mayor James R. the matter up. Four months ago Mayor James R. Hanna antiounced that the little piot of lawn at the city hall would be opened as a municipal market. It was regarded as an experiment and many of the officials were akeptical as to whether it would be successful. The lirst day cials were akeptical as to whether it would be successful. The first day four or five farmers drove their was one on the lawn and sold vegetables from the cart.

The next thy the number doubled. Within a week over one hundred farmers were at the market, in a month it had become so popular that more than one hundred farmers were selling direct to the Des. Moines housewives and the wagons stretched for three blocks along the curb on market days. In many instances the old prices were cut in half, in others the reduction was even lower. Commissioner John MacVicar estimates that the average reduction has been about 50 per cent. Citizens from all ascitons of the city patronize the market, source even driving down in automobiles to make purchases. At one time a week or two ago there was a shortege in polatoes, and Mayor Haima bought a curtoad with a view of breaking a combination and keeping the prices down. Grant County Has Another Mystery That Is Bratal in Extreme; Young Man Is Arrested on Suspicion, 1 (Silver City Independent)

What bears every evidence of hav-ing been a cold blooded number oc-curred at Flerro Saturday might. About 2 o'clock Sunday morning a small house belonging to a Mexican named Pablo Martinez was discovered shall house belonging to a Mexican named Pablo Martines was discovered to be on fire. A crowd was soon attracted to the scene by the firenes, but nothing could be done toward aving the house and the fire burned itself out. Investigation of the rules disclosed the body of Martines, and though the arms and legs were practically burned off, a gaping wound in his skull, where he had evidently been hit a terrific blow with same blant instrument, showed that he had not been burned to death. The fire had evidently been started with the intention of hiding all evidences of a crime. Later in the day Deputy Wayns Enter arrested a young Mexican named Salvador, who was a room rate of Martinez, on suspicion of being implicated in the crime and took him to Santa Rita.

The Peccased was an unmarried man, and about 15 years, and boye an excellent reputation as a stordy and hard worker. He formerly worked for the Colorado Fuel & Iron Co. at Flerroadut had recently been em-
